

Guide to folding the 3 panel cards

The reading order and the way these cards are folded is important:

- 1) The side with the character portrait is considered the inside.
- 2) The right panel folds in first, followed by the left panel.
- 3) The panel now facing up is the front face of the card.

example above is a prototype, not final design

Guide to stacking decks

Decks should be stacked with the 'card back' as the side facing the user, with card 1 on top (This card acts as the cover card we mentioned, so people can identify the decks when looking through the box). The ordering is important because the game is played by participants drawing the next numbered card, then turning over to read the text on the back.

The second card in decks 2 and 3 are the folded cards.

...and so on for 5-23

...and so on for 5-20

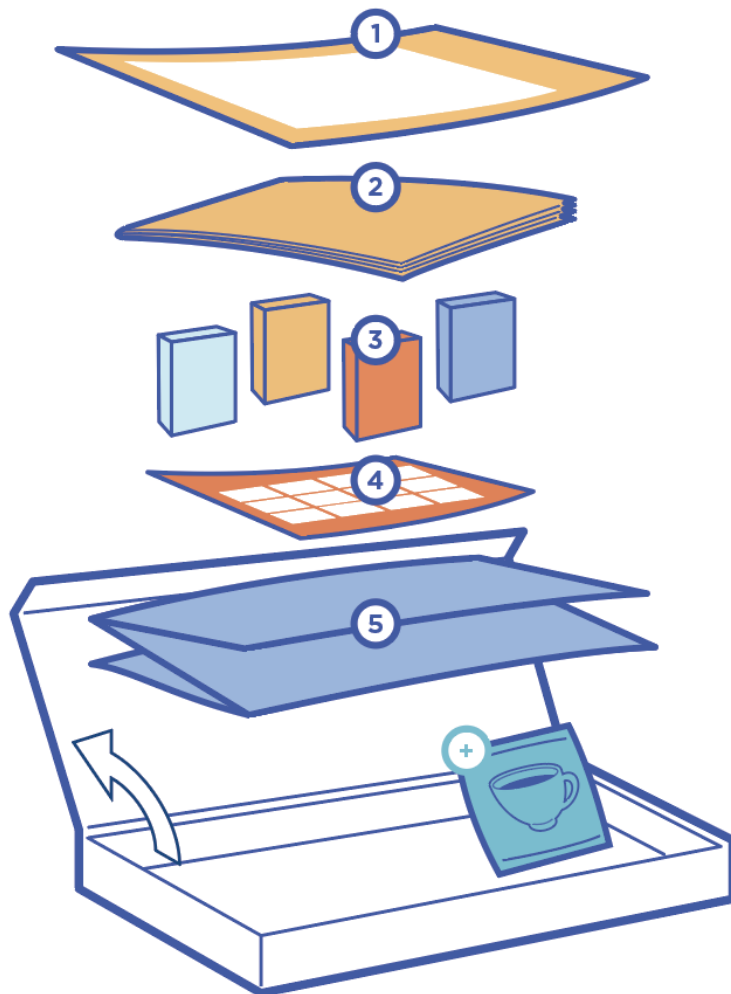

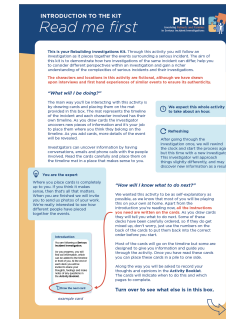

...and so on for 5-20

...and so on for 5-11

Guide to layering the boxes

The image below is how we say the box is layered, so ideally it matches what they find in the box. If this isn't possible, then the priority should be that the double-sided instruction sheet goes on top, this side up →

- 1 Double-sided instruction sheet
You're reading this now!
- 2 Activity booklet
At various points in this activity you will be asked to record your thoughts in this book.
- 3 4 decks of cards
You'll work through these numbered decks one at a time to complete the activity.
- 4 Sticker sheet
To be used as part of the activity.
- 5 Folded timeline mat
You will place cards onto this mat.
- + Bonus teabag (take a break whenever you need one)